WHITMAN PROBES SEEKING ASH GRAFT

Street Cleaners and Contractors Asked About Report of Official's Solicitude.

The Whitman Grand Jury yesterday continued its investigation of a contract for removing ashes for the Street Cleaning Department. Its curiosity has been excited by a seeming irregularity in the fulfillment of the agreement and the part played in it by an officer of another department of the city administration. The jury has spent two days on this case and is likely to give it further attention to-day and Monday, although sessions are ordinarily held only on Tuesday and Thursday. Six witnesses have been examined. Eight more are to be heard. One of the eight is Arnold McStay, formerly Commissioner of Street Cleaning, now Deputy Commissioner of Public Welfare. He was subpoenaed for yesterday, but his name was not reached on the list.

Yesterday's witnesses were Alfred A. Taylor, general superintendent of the Street Cleaning Department; Arthur Pradus, son of Jacob Pradus, a contractor, and Leonard Damman, secretary of the Pradus contracting firm. Jacob Pradus was one of the State's witnesses in the trial of Robert P. Brindell. He testified that Brindell drove him out of business because he would not pay graft. David Hirschfeld, Commissioner of Accounts, who a few days ago made a report calculated to exonerate Chief Inspector Lahey and all the members of the police automobile squad indicted in the Whitman inquiry said yesterday that the accuracy of the report had been attested by further investigation. He is satisfied, he said, that every legal requirement had been met in the payment of rewards to Detectives Andrews, Scott, O'Connor and Armstrong. In each case, he said, the entries had been made as required by law and the rules of the Police Department. The reward paid to Andrews, with whom Lahey was indicted, was recorded, according to Mr. Hirschfeld, in the minutes of the Police Department, the counter book and the ledgers of the pension and relief funds.

William Chivers, one of Mr. Whitman's assistants, questioned in his office yesterday two of a group of three Tammany men who are said to be influential in helping others to lease city piers. They admitted, Mr. Chivers said, that in one case they received a commission of $12,500 for their services. The city got only $100 a day for the pier, but the lessee, by sub-letting it, got $250 a day. Mr. Chivers suspects there was a violation of the city charter, which requires the approval of the Sinking Fund Commission before piers can be sublet.

BAN LIFTED ON ALIENS.

An order to release 400 applicants for citizenship from the enemy alien list has been received by Louis Elbert, County Clerk of Westchester at White Plains. They all live in Yonkers, and some have been applicants for citizenship for two years. They may now appear before the County Clerk with two witnesses for their final hearing before being sworn.

ALMIRALL JURY OUT; HITS SWANN OFFICE

Final Report Urges District Attorneys Be Appointed by Supreme Court.

Drastic changes in the conduct of the District Attorney's office to prevent "oppression of citizens by abuse of official authority, malice and incompetence" were recommended in a final report presented to Justice Weeks in the Supreme Court yesterday by the Extraordinary Grand Jury, of which Raymond F. Almira was foreman. The court finally discharged the jury from further service without the "overshadowing crime" ever having been revealed.

"It was, and remains, the opinion of this Grand Jury that the office of District Attorney needs a thorough examination and reorganization," the report stated. Its chief recommendations are:

That the office of District Attorney should be taken out of politics and that the District Attorney should be appointed by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, subject to removal.

That neither the District Attorney nor his assistants should be permitted to engage in the private practice of law while they are holding office, or permitted to accept money from private sources to defray expenses of prosecutions.

That the District Attorney's office should be provided with its own staff of detectives and be entirely independent of the Police Department in this regard. That the practice of the District Attorney in making prejudicial "side remarks" in presenting a case before a Grand Jury with a view to influencing its verdict, or preparing an indictment in anticipation of a verdict, should be prohibited.

During the eighteen months the Extraordinary Grand Jury has been in existence it held 112 sessions, listened to 393 witnesses and returned 67 indictments.

The Almira Grand Jury was empaneled August 11, 1919, to investigate criminal anarchy. After the transit strike of that summer Mayor Hylan and the Hearst newspapers declared that the Interborough officials and brotherhood officers had conspired to foment the trouble as a means of obtaining higher fares. District Attorney Swann sought to bring evidence of what he termed an "overshadowing crime," but no indictment resulted.

Then followed an investigation during which records and books from Mayor Hylan's office, from the office of David Hirschfeld, Commissioner of Accounts, and from other city departments were subpoenaed. Commissioner Hirschfeld was indicted and so was Dominick Henry, Police Inspector, and Assistant District Attorneys James E. Smith and Edwin P. Kilroe. Included in the indictment against Mr. Smith was Charles E. Murphy and others accused of conspiracy.

Think Before You Invest

Think, that approximately only one person in a hundred succeeds in earning more than 5 1/2% on his money, year in and year out, and keeping his principal.

Think, that a large percentage lose a fair share of their principal before they learn the lesson of "Safety First."

Think, that for nearly thirty years now no investors in the Mortgages and Mortgage Certificates guaranteed by us have ever lost a dollar. They have received their interest when it was due and their principal has come back intact.

Think, and then decide that this is the investment for you. Your interest at 5 1/2% begins from the day we get your money.

50 INDICTED, MAKING GRAFT SCORE OVER 400

Thirty Building Corporations Named in Blanket Bill.

The filing of two new blanket indictments yesterday against fifty individuals and corporations raised to more than four hundred the total of those indicted in Federal and State courts on evidence gathered by Samuel Untermyer in his drive against illegal building trades combines.

The new indictments were handed to Supreme Court Justice John V. McAvoy by the January Extraordinary Grand Jury. They were found upon evidence presented by William A. De Ford, Special Deputy Attorney-General. One is understood to contain the names of thirty corporations and the other the names of twenty individuals, all of whom are expected to appear next Wednesday morning.

CARUSO WITHOUT FEVER, PROGRESS IS STEADY

Eats Heartily, Resting Well and in Splendid Spirits.

"Mr. Caruso has had no fever for twenty-four hours. His progress is steady and his condition is favorable."

That bulletin was given out yesterday by the five physicians attending Enrico Caruso, who is ill from pleurisy at the Vanderbilt, and late last night it was reported by William J. Guard, publicity secretary of the Metropolitan Opera Company, that the improvement was continuing steadily.

"He is in splendid spirits," said Mr. Guard. "He had a good dinner, which he ate heartily, and he is resting well." Dr. Francis J. Murray, one of the physicians attending Caruso, said at 9:30 o'clock that his temperature was still normal and that there was no immediate cause for worry.

Meat

—then and now

THE meat peddler of the old days, who killed his own live stock and then sold the meat from the tail of a cart, is gone from our larger towns and cities. He was a pioneer and did good service but he couldn't keep up with his job. Crude methods had to give way to new ideas in sanitation and distribution.

Concentration of population drove the peddler and his wagon out and brought the modern packing industry and the neighborhood retailer in his place.

And the modern packing business means this:

That near the farms and ranches, the centers of live stock production, are packing plants that assemble and manufacture the meat products you use.

That swift and sanitary refrigerator cars carry your meat from these packing plants to every part of the country.

Dealers in towns and villages are supplied directly and regularly from these refrigerator cars.

And in cities the refrigerator car is unloaded into branch houses, chilled and sanitary, from which deliveries are made to your meat shop. And all the time the meat is kept so chilled that deterioration is prevented.

Swift & Company's plants and branches are co-ordinated, interchanging supply and supporting each other, when necessary, so that no section of the country may ever lack its daily meat.
